NO DEFINITE news of the Lindbergh child when this was written. On Sunday while police were guarding the Lindbergh house, to prevent intrusion, and prayers were offered in thousands of churches, asking the Divine help, a letter was sent to newspapers inviting the assistance of Irving Blitz and Salvatore Spitalo, two members of New York's "underworld" as go-betweens, to help in the recovery of the child.

The absolute "higher-ups" in the racketeering world declined to enter the Lindbergh case, saying, "newspaper front pages are poison to us," but they are said to have approved the use of Blitz and Spitalo.

The racketeer rulers are glad to have Blitz and Spitalo make themselves as useful as possible, because they "wish to check the growing hostility to racketeering."

One well acquainted with gangster methods said yesterday:

"Now that Spitalo is on the side of law and order, other gangsters that might give information will fear to do so. They will say to Spitalo, 'You have left racketeering and turned cop.' And if the kidnapers of the child are amateurs, not professional criminals, as 'experts' allege, they also would fear to deal with racketeers."

However, nothing proves that the crime, committed with carefully concealed fingerprints and footprints, is that of an amateur criminal. If the kidnapers are professionals, the selection of two underworld characters as go-betweens may be the wisest possible step.

MONDAY Salvatore Spitalo and Irving Blitz had disappeared from their usual haunts on errands said to be of importance.

Strange is the curiosity of modern civilization. If those two men should return with the baby, safe and well, they probably could, for a while, make in vaudeville more money than the underworld could give them.

Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, of the Little Flower, Detroit, speaking over the radio, deprecates the fact that Col. Lindbergh found it necessary to deal with underworld characters. He advises the kidnapers to leave the child at any Catholic orphanage, or:

"Go to some priest; he will hold your confidence."

WILLIAM H. MULLINS, who died Sunday, at Salem, O., was a typical American, capable, energetic, creating his own industry and building it up into his old age. Salem, and the state of Ohio, will regret his loss, because of his public benefactions, and because he supplied employment to many men, for many years, and improved American production methods in several lines.

Young Americans can learn from his career that success is always possible for those that combine intelligence with willingness to work.

14 KILLED IN GAS BLAST IN CAMDEN, N. J.

Spark From Blow or Match Cause of Explosion.

LITTLE DAMAGE

Detonation Shakes Houses; Throng Gathers.

By The Associated Press.
CAMDEN, N. J., March 9.—An official of the Public Service Electric and Gas Co. said that 14 workmen were killed by the explosion in the purifying box at the company's plant here today. Four were injured, two seriously, and one man escaped.

By The Associated Press.
CAMDEN, N. J., March 9.—Between 20 and 25 workmen are believed to be dead following an explosion in a gas purifying tank of the Public Service Electric and Gas Co., Locust and Cherry street, today. Four men were injured. Residences for blocks were shaken by the explosion the scene of which is a mile from the central city area.

The scene of the blast was made harrowing by the cries of relatives of the doomed men. Police roped off the streets a block from the gas tanks. Spectators by the hundreds blocked the thoroughfares beyond the ropes.

The explosion was caused by a tank of the inner shell of a tank or a lighted match that ignited the gas collected within.

A tremendous roar announced the accident while practically the entire force of workmen, many of them earning their first pay in weeks, were trapped below.

Torchlike Flame Extinguished
A fierce torchlike flame which followed was speedily extinguished by the firemen and then the search within the chambers was begun.

Outwardly the tank showed no signs of the explosion. It is a square steel structure, 20 by 20 feet and 15 feet deep, raised from the ground on steel girders and longitudinally divided into east and west chambers.

The metal interiors was coated with a mixture of charcoal, sawdust and sulphuric acid and other gases used in purifying the gas which is then piped across the street to a distributing tank.

In the sawdust composition gas collected. Several times a year it is necessary to clean it and the workmen who had done this work before commented today on the unusually heavy accumulation.

On the outside of the tank a stairway like a fire escape and a small open elevator provide means of entry for the workmen and the removal of the old purifying material. The elevator is also used to carry up the new mixture with which the walls are coated.

Motorist Injured in Crash.
There was no damage to the company property except to the tank. The patrol wagon which took the four injured men to the Cooper hospital collided with an automobile, injuring the motorist. He was also taken to the hospital.

The workmen entered the tank after the top was lifted off. The interior of the tank was

Calcutta Election Aids Carry Count Case to Appeals Court

Albert Foulks and Charles Fraser Give Notice and Post $500 Bond Each.

LISBON, O., March 9.—Albert Foulks and Charles Fraser, Republican judges in the Calcutta precinct, who were fined $100 and costs each Monday following their conviction Jan. 29 of wrongfully counting the ballots in the St. Clair township election last November 3, will carry their fight to the appeals court. Appeal bonds of $500 each were filed here late Tuesday afternoon.

Attorney W. S. Foulks, who appeared before Judge W. F. Jones with both defendants, gave the notice of intent to appeal.

The court in fixing the appeal bond, made the following entry: "Defendants each gave notice in writing to the judge of this court of their intention to file a petition to review their conviction, and the judge suspended execution of the sentence for two weeks, said time so fixed being considered such time as will give the accused time to prepare and file such petition. Said suspension will take effect upon defendants giving recognition with sufficient surety to the approval of the judge in the sum of $500 each, conditioned as required by the General Code, Section 13,453-1. Said recognition with surety to the approval of the court was given this day."

MRS. POLK HURT IN BUS CRASH

Mrs. Louise Polk, owner of the Thompson hotel in Broadway, is recovering at her home today from injuries received as a result of a bus crash near Philadelphia last Sunday, while en route from New York City to East Liverpool.

The accident occurred when the coach struck a tree blown across the highway during a snow storm. Several other passengers in the bus were injured, but continued the journey after receiving medical attention.

Mrs. Polk was returning from a visit with friends and relatives in New York.

FARLEY COUNT IS DISMISSED

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 9.—An indictment charging grand larceny against former Sheriff Thomas M. Farley was dismissed today by Judge John J. Freschi in general sessions court.

Farley, recently ousted as sheriff of New York county by Governor Roosevelt, was indicted as a result of his taking of interest on money entrusted to his care. On the witness stand he denied criminal intent in keeping the money, testifying that he did it on the advice of counsel.

VOTE FUNDS FOR FARMERS' LOANS

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 9.—Legislation to make all of the $200,000,000 authorized for loans to farmers under the reconstruction finance corporation law immediately available was approved today by the senate agricultural committee.

The committee authorized Senator Smith (D., S. C.), to draft and introduce the legislation.

It would make the full amount available for loans immediately without waiting for sales of the corporation's debentures.

MERCURY HITS ZERO HERE; 33 DIE IN EAST

Winter Rules in West And South; Ohio Suffers.

NO RELIEF SEEN

Dozen Vessels are In Distress on Atlantic.

The mercury fell below the zero mark in Columbiana today for the first time this year as winter ruled in the west and south while the east struggled out of a storm that took at least 33 lives.

Although the almanac says spring is "just around the corner", bitter winter weather continued in Ohio with several deaths, numerous fires, and suffering in its wake.

United States Weather Observer L. H. Copeland of Millport, said that the thermometer registered 1 degree below zero at Millport at 7 a. m., but had jumped to 6 above at 10 a. m. He said no relief is in sight.

At the Chester bridge the reading was zero at 6:30 a. m., but went to 4 degrees about by 10 a. m. The thermometer at the Newell bridge showed 22 degrees above in the sun at 4 p. m. after being 3 above at 6 a. m.

Several Northside homes reported temperatures at zero and 4 or 2 degrees below early this morning.

Hookstown also experienced its coldest day of the winter, the temperature being zero at 6 a. m. The previous low mark had been 1 degree above Tuesday at sunrise.

Fredericktown Coldest Place.
The coldest place in the county was Fredericktown where the mercury hit 3 below zero at 7 a. m. It was 12 above, however, at 10 a. m.

Temperatures in East Liverpool ranged about the zero mark at sunrise and showed little signs of going above the 10-degree line today, Copeland said. The mercury at Lo K No. 8 registered 11 above last night, but fell to 7 above at 3 a. m.

Further Drop Expected.
The U. S. weather bureau said there was little hope for an upward break today.

There was a prospect, instead, of a further drop in temperature in the southwestern part of Ohio, and snow flurries generally.

Thousands of needy Ohioans continued to obtain food and shelter from welfare organizations.

The latest deaths from the cold were at Cleveland, where there were two victims.

Mercury readings today showed new lows in many spots throughout the state.

The low mark at Columbus, plus 5, was an all-time record for March 9. Toledo had four above, Washington Courthouse 4, and Pomeroy 6, low marks for the present winter.

Northeast Digs Out of Snow.
From the Rockies east and south cold prevailed during the night. In Kansas four victims fell, including an elderly couple found dead of exposure. Snow, sleet and rain blustered through Texas. Snow as deep as 20 inches and cold as severe as 24 below wrought misery in the Rockies region.

Many southerners saw the first snowflakes of the season. Low temperatures blighted fruit, flowers and vegetables.

The northwest was digging out of deep snow. On the Atlantic a dozen vessels were in distress.

The crippled collier, H. F. De Bardeleben rolled helplessly on the north Atlantic, waiting for the seas

$1,500 IN BUS POUCH STOLEN

By The Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, March 9.—A pouch of registered mail containing $1,500 was taken from a bus driver by robbers near Cheswick today.

Two men boarded the bus and rode a half mile out of Cheswick where an automobile was parked. There the men drew revolvers and compelled the driver to give them the pouch. The robbers then ran to the automobile and disappeared.

The money was from the federal reserve bank and consigned to the First National bank of Russellton.

OHIO SLAYER AWAITS FATE

COLUMBUS, O., March 9.—Daniel Hunt, 58, of Rushmore, Putnam county, scheduled to be electrocuted at Ohio penitentiary Friday night, will know his fate tomorrow.

Governor George White, through his secretary, let it be known today that Hunt's appeal for executive clemency will be disposed of in the morning. The governor has before him the recommendation of the parole board, which conducted a hearing in the case.

IN SURVEYOR FIGHT

R. D. McGill, former Wellsville city engineer, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for county surveyor at the May 10 primary election.

M'GILL SEEKS NOMINATION FOR SURVEYOR

T. V. Yates, Salem, in Clerk of Courts Race.

R. D. McGill, former city engineer of Wellsville, and T. Vaughn Yates of Salem, former East Liverpool resident and a World War veteran, today announced their candidacies for the Republican nominations for county surveyor and county clerk, respectively, at the May 10 primary election.

McGill was born in Kansas 37 years ago and came to Ohio with his parents in 1903. He was educated in St. John's university at Collegeville, Minn. Before the war he was engineer's assistant for the United States Coal company, operating extensive properties in Jefferson county, and also was employed by the National Lime and Stone company of Findlay, in charge of highway, bridge and culvert construction.

McGill Is Legion Leader.
He came to Wellsville in 1922 as resident engineer for the W. J. Sherman company of Toledo, engineers for the design and supervision of construction of Wellsville's gravity water system, the only one of its type in the state. Upon completion of the job he became city engineer there and held that position until Jan. 1. He is now engaged in private work in Wellsville.

Before coming to Wellsville, McGill served for two years with the department of public works of the state of Nebraska as senior project engineer in charge of federal highway construction.

He is a member of the American Association of Engineers, the American Road Builders association and the American Water Works association. He is a former commander of Wellsville post No. 76, American Legion, and now chairman of the Columbiana County Council of the Legion. He is also a former president of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis club.

Yates Is Salem Councilman.
Yates is serving his first term as councilman-at-large of Salem. He was born and reared in East Liverpool, attended the local high school in the class of 1915, and enlisted in the World War from here. He is the son of T. R. Yates of East End.

Yates is married and has two children. He is a handler in a Salem pottery, and has been a member of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters for 17 years and is financial secretary of Local Union No. 42 of Salem.

Search in West Virginia.
Scores of crank messages filled the mail of Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, paternal grandmother of the missing baby, at Detroit. None was considered of importance. A rumor rippling through Hopewell to the effect that Colonel Lindbergh was preparing to fly to Detroit on information that his baby would be returned there was discounted.

Mountain cabins in the Mingo and Valley Head sections south of Elkins, W. Va., were subjected to police search on the strength of a note which said "the Lindbergh baby is 32 miles south of Elkins in a cabin. Out of food."

A man in Cumberland, Md., said the note was handed to him by the occupant of a passing automobile last yesterday.

Mother "Bearing Up Well."
Two men, a woman and a baby, the latter clothed in a white zipper suit, were reported by a toll collector on a bridge that links Perth Amboy, N. J., to Tottenville, Staten Island, N. Y., to have crossed in a green coupe on the night of the kidnaping. This caused a police check at Tottenville. There was no explanation for the delay in the report.

State police continued to deny any knowledge of the reported appointment of Spitalo and Bliz, purported underworld characters, as

Police Claim Infant Is Not in Morrow Or Lindbergh Homes

Parents Said to Have Made Agreement With Kidnapers Not to Notify Authorities for 72 Hours After 20-month-old Tot is Restored, Rumor Insists.

JAMES M. CURLEY LEARNS THAT INFANT WAS FOUND SUNDAY NIGHT

Reporters at Hopewell, N. J., Unable to Check Information at Official Sources Until Flying Colonel Answers List of Questions Submitted by Newsmen at Noon.

By The Associated Press.

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9.—Police at the Lindbergh home stated flatly today that the kidnaped Lindbergh baby was not in either the Lindbergh or Morrow homes and said they knew nothing of a report emanating from Boston that the child had been returned.

As soon as it was reported from Boston that Mayor James M. Curley had what he considered reliable information concerning the baby's return, the following question was framed and sent to the police headquarters at the Lindbergh home.

"Mayor Curley of Boston has announced that he has received information from an 'authoritative source' that baby has been returned on Sunday night and that the police had been cleared away from the Lindbergh home to give the kidnapers 72 hours in which to make their getaway. Has the baby been returned? Is Mayor Curley correct in any respect?"

"We Know Nothing," Police Said.
Police conferred for more than an hour on this and other questions submitted at the same time and then replied to the question about the baby's alleged return:

"We know nothing of this."
Another question as to whether the baby was now in the Lindbergh or Morrow homes the police answered flatly "No."

Earlier, a rumor that something would happen at the Morrow home caused a flurry of excitement in Englewood, but early this afternoon nothing had materialized there.

Police at the Lindbergh estate continued to maintain strictest secrecy on possible movements of Colonel Lindbergh or his representatives and gave negative answers to questions about their own activities.

Nurse's Suior Still Held.
Henry (Red) Johnson, suiior of the baby's nursemaid, still was held incommunicado at Newark police headquarters with authorities refusing to say if he had submitted voluntarily to inquisition.

Dog Race Promoter Sought.
Police of Niagara Falls, N. Y., were seeking J. Norman Beck, dog race promoter, and a possible companion named "Archie" at the request of New Jersey police, who wanted to know the whereabouts of these men at the time of the kidnaping.

"Archie," police said, was discharged from the employ of the late Dwight W. Morrow, after serving the latter in Mexico, and had a record as a smuggler and kidnaper. Buffalo, N. Y., police joined in the search and learned that Beck was last seen there in the spring of 1930.

Authorities of West Chester, Pa., seized upon a possible connection between the Lindbergh kidnaping and that of Mrs. Nell G. Donnelly, wealthy Kansas City woman, and sought to learn if Martin Dewey, former Downingtown, Pa., man was among workmen once employed to level off a field near the Lindbergh home.

Police Evade Questions.
Have Spitalo and Bliz, the New York gangmen named by Col. Lindbergh himself as go-betweens to deal with the kidnapers, been able to contact the baby-snatchers?

"We know nothing about Spitalo and Bliz," the state police reply. Has some telephoned or written communication to the flier himself been of such a nature as to lead police to hope that the baby soon may be restored to his parents?

The police were not to be drawn

NO ANSWER ON CONTACT MOVE

By The Associated Press.
HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9.—Police at the Lindbergh home maintained strict secrecy today concerning reports that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh or his representatives were in communication with the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, stolen from its crib March 1.

The question was broached in the first list of queries submitted by the press this morning.

"Has Col. Lindbergh, Col. Henry Breckenridge, his attorney, or any other agent of Col. Lindbergh's been in communication with the kidnapers during the past 12 hours?" was the question heading the list submitted at 8 a. m.

Shortly after 9 a. m. the answers were telephoned from the Lindbergh home, and the notation opposite the first question was: "No answer."

Silent Regarding Activities.

LINDY BABY BELIEVED WITHIN 125 MILES OF HOPEWELL

KIDNAPERS SPEED AWAY AS POLICE HUNT

Theory Advanced by Those Who Analyze Crime.

SHIP TRIP SEEN

Others Say Captors Hid Before Alarm Went Out.

By RAYMOND CROWLEY, Associated Press Writer.
NEW YORK, March 9. — The Lindbergh baby is within 125 miles of Hopewell or was smuggled away by sea—that is the feeling that is growing among those who have analyzed the crime.

The child was stolen from his crib between 8:30 and 9:15 p. m., as near as experts on the job can deduce. By midnight or shortly thereafter the tightest lid that law enforcement agencies in the east can devise was clamped on a territory within several hundred miles of Hopewell.

It is barely possible—but in the eyes of experts not at all probable—that the kidnapers continued to travel in an automobile with the infant after police on highways, bridges, in tunnels and everywhere else were scanning cars inside and out.

Could Reach Sea
The best guess is that if the child was spirited away by automobile, its captors halted and went into hiding before the alarm that worried the world went clattering over the wires. If they were able to travel 35 miles an hour (a high average over the rocky and hilly roads) they could have reached, before the crime was generally known, such places as New York City, lower New York state or Connecticut, eastern Pennsylvania, parts of Delaware or Maryland—or the sea coast.

The possibility that they made their way to the Jersey shore to Delaware bay or to Chesapeake bay and fled in some craft, big or little, to any of a thousand and one secluded spots far away from the hub and the hue and cry is not being neglected. Coast guardsmen here, however, have said they had no orders to search vessels for the baby and his captors.

Three Liners Sailed March 2
Even the possibility that the baby (perhaps in a suit case) was taken aboard a trans-Atlantic liner has been considered—although this is thought unlikely. Three large liners sailed for Europe March 2. Within that 125-mile circle around Hopewell has occurred the most intense effort of the authorities to find the baby—indicating that they still cling to the theory that he was not carried any great distance from his home.

Of course, some officers point out, there is always the bare possibility that a plane figured in the kidnaping, but this is thought virtually impossible since it is harder to arrive anywhere in a plane without attracting attention than it would be in other forms of transportation.

MRS. M'CORMICK WEDDED TODAY

Romance Which Began in Halls of Congress Culminated at Colorado Springs at Noon.

By The Associated Press.
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colorado, March 9.—Romance growing out of the association of two former members of congress in Washington climaxed in their marriage here today.

Ruth Hanna McCormick, the noted daughter of Mark Hanna, announced last night she and Albert G. Simms, Albuquerque, N. M., banker and clubman, would be wed at noon at her suburban home.

Mrs. McCormick, former representative from Illinois, and Mr. Simms, former representative from New Mexico, occupied adjoining seats in the house. Both are Republicans.

For nearly a year both denied they were engaged. Last March 27, her fifty-first birthday anniversary, Mrs. McCormick asserted a report they were to marry was "screamingly funny."

She announced their plans last night, however.

The widow of the late Senator Medill McCormick has been in Colorado Springs frequently in the last year. Her son, Medill, and younger daughter, Ruth, attend private schools here. Another daughter, Katrina, is a Columbia university student.

She and Mr. Simms plan to make their home in Albuquerque.

BOY EMPEROR IN MANCHURIA

Young Descendant of Henry Pu-Yi Inaugurated as 30 Chinese and 15 Japanese Look on.

By The Associated Press.
CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, March 9.—Henry Pu-Yi, young descendant of the former emperor, was formally inaugurated Chih-cheng—"dictator"—of Manchoukuo, "Land of Manchuria," this afternoon.

The ceremony took place in the main hall of the new presidential palace, formerly Changchun's city hall and lasted only 25 minutes. The attendance was limited to 30 Chinese, including several Manchus and Mongols, and 15 Japanese.

"The people of Manchuria have long suffered under tyrannical government," the former boy emperor said in his inaugural address. "In these troublous times, I must confess myself poor in talent and unable to devise means to relieve the people from their pain and suffering."

Among the Japanese who were present at the inauguration were the highest authorities of the military organization in Manchuria. Their presence was taken to indicate Japan's friendly regard for the new state.

NAB SUSPECT IN BOMB OUTRAGE

Anarchist Suspect, Arrested in Chicago Linked With Fatal Explosion in Easton Postoffice.

By The Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 9.—A nationwide bomb plot of two months ago directed against prominent Italian-Americans, was said by authorities today to have been cleared up with the arrest of Colombo Boeri, 47, a fugitive anarchist suspect.

Murray W. Garsson, Special Assistant Secretary of Labor, said he had "positive evidence" linking Boeri with a bombing last December in Easton, Pa., which cost the lives of two postal clerks and an explosive expert. Two alleged accomplices of Boeri are sought.

In a raid on Boeri's home, Garsson said, a large quantity of explosives were found. Some of the explosives were similar to those used in the bombs, including one intercepted in Chicago.

Equipment seized in the raid on Boeri's home, Garsson said, included TNT, nitroglycerine, percussion caps, fuses, chemicals, powder, ammunition, two shotguns, two pistols, and tools for making bombs. He was under $100,000 bond on a technical charge of entering the United States illegally.

TROLLEY-SLED CRASH SUIT BACK IN COURT

Steubenville Coasting Damage Verdict Set Aside.

By The Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., March 9.—Robert Parrish, Steubenville boy who received serious injuries in a coasting accident, three years ago must make another turn in common pleas court in effort to obtain damages from the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company, the Ohio supreme court ruled today, in sustaining the appeals court of Jefferson county.

Young Parrish's suit against the traction company has been heard twice in the common pleas court. The first time he obtained a judgment for $50,000, which was set aside on the ground that the award was excessive. The second trial resulted in a verdict for $20,000 which the appeals court reversed because of errors in admission of evidence.

The supreme court today refused to review young Parrish's appeal, thus sustaining the action of the appeals court.

The accident occurred Feb. 23, 1929, at the intersection of South and Seventh streets, Steubenville. Young Parrish and a number of other boys were coasting. Parrish's sled shot into the street intersection, just as a car of the traction company entered. The car hit the boy and injured him seriously. He has not yet recovered.

The coasters claimed they had the green traffic light and that the interurban ran the red stop signal.

HOLMES PENS HIS FAREWELL

Retired Jurist Writes Friends on 91st Birthday.

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 9.—Olivier Wendell Holmes, on his 91st birthday spoke a farewell to life. To a distinguished company gathered to honor the great jurist at dinner last night he sent formal regrets that he could not attend, but he supplemented these in a separate message.

"Your kind invitation for March 8 has been answered, I believe, in due form. But I cannot say farewell to life and you in formal words.

Life seems to me just like a Japanese picture which our imagination does not allow to end with the margin. We aim at the infinite and when our arrow falls to earth it is in flames.

"At times the ambitious ends of life have made it seem to me lonely, but it has not been. You have given me the companionship of dear friends who have helped to keep alive the fire in my heart. If I could think that I had sent a spark to those who come after I should be ready to say goodbye."

But the venerable writer of countless opinions which have lent brilliance to the supreme bench he occupied for almost 30 years, however, near he may believe his mortal end, showed vigor of mind to the few friends who visited him on the anniversary. Cheerfully, he has expected that the end would steal upon him for some time. He had hoped it would find him still at work, but this could not be. He spoke of death a year ago when on his birthday he made his first and only radio talk. And he has whimsically called himself a "ghost" repeatedly.

POMERENE TO BE DELEGATE

Former United States Senator Will Head Ohio Delegation, Supporting White at Convention.

By The Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., March 9.—Former Senator Atlee Pomerene of Cleveland will be among Ohio delegates to the Democratic national convention pledged to Governor George White as first choice.

Democratic state headquarters announced the list of delegates would be selected within a few days and that Pomerene probably would be chairman. He was the state's "favorite son" choice four years ago. Tentative delegates include former Governor James M. Cox, the party's presidential candidate in 1920.

OUTSIDE WORK TO START SOON

MANSFIELD, O., March 9.—City and county organizations, in line with national movements to afford employment, are planning an early spring opening of street and road work. It is believed that at least 100 men will be employed by the city in sewer construction.

In a collision, ran the wreck into a round house, hired mechanics to help repair it, sold it for $8,000 profit and started a little factory at Salem.

In that factory, changing products as times changed, he manufactured cornices for buildings, statues, including those of Kruger in South Africa and of Liberty on New York's city hall, boats of metal and automobile bodies. He gave those that worked with him a share in his success and profits.

His life honored his father and his mother, and was a blessing to his community. His widow and two daughters, surviving him, may be proud of his name.

WITH GANDHI in jail, and Hindu disturbers that worry Britain quiescent, Mohammedans in India begin making serious trouble. It started strangely.

A Hindu bookseller in Calcutta sold a book containing pictures of Mohammed. The Koran, largely inspired by the Hervey Old Testament, takes seriously the order:

"Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in Heaven above or that is in the earth beneath."

A young Mohammedan, shocked by the sin committed in showing Mohammed's bookseller to death, British law condemned the Mohammedan to death. That is why the Mohammed's picture, stabbed the Hindu bookseller to death. British law condemned the Mohammed's sentence.

ARISTIDE BRIAND, who dreamed of creating a "United States of Europe" is dead at 69. He was a French statesman and he WORKED FOR FRANCE. He did not worry about the United States, would not have sent a French soldier or a French franc to this country if it had been on fire, from Alaska to Florida. He was French, worked for FRANCE, and had no thought for anything else.

The power of France, her domination in Europe, the fact that she is the greatest "gold country" in the world is due to the fact that she produces such men as Briand.

REFERENDUM TO FACE CHAMBER

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce will act on referendum No. 60 of the United States Chamber of Commerce on the report of the special committee on federal taxation, at a meeting Thursday at 1 p. m. Secretary H. B. Barth announced today. The meeting will be held in the Chamber rooms in the Little building.

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Basilmann's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure.

That empty, gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach will disappear; that anxious, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath without discomfort.

That droopy, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for entertainment. Bloating will cease. Your limbs, arms and fingers will no longer feel cold and "go to sleep" because Basilmann's Gas Tablets prevent gas from interfering with the circulation. Get the genuine in the yellow package, at any good drug store. Price $1.

TWO MEN IN DE JUTE CASE DENY GUILT

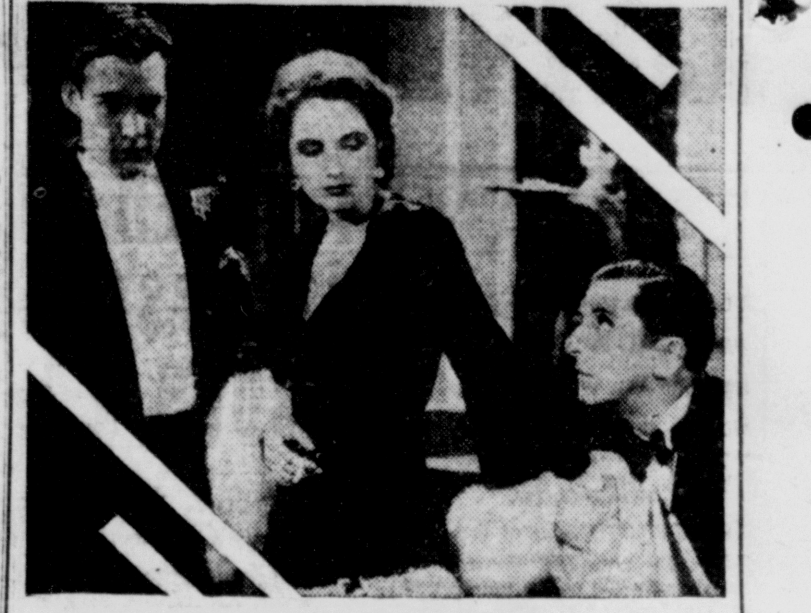

Alleged Abductors Ready to Defend Themselves.

By The Associated Press.
WARREN, O., March 9.—Two accused abductors of Jimmy DeJute, Jr., 14, son of a wealthy Nile contractor, made preparations today to defend themselves from charges of kidnaping with intent to extort. If convicted they would face a maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

The men, Dowell Hargraves, 31, and John DeMarko, 30, both of Youngstown, pleaded not guilty yesterday and their trials were set for Thursday.

Jimmy was rescued Saturday when detectives on an anonymous house to buy liquor.

SAFETY BELTS FOR RIVERMEN

Government Acts To Protect Lives Of Workers.

In order to safeguard lives of men employed on maneuver boats, while raising or lowering the wickets, federal engineers of the Pittsburgh district on the Ohio river will install a new type of life-saving equipment. The equipment has already been placed on boats at dams near Pittsburgh and boats at Dam No. 8 here will be fitted soon.

Raising and lowering of wickets on movable dams in the Ohio river is considered the most hazardous occupation of the men engaged on locks in charge of the war department. This new equipment consists of Kapok vests, which will be donned by the crews of these boats, while operating the wickets. The vests are made of heavy canvas and filled with a fibre of plants grown in Java. The garment will keep a man afloat for more than two hours.

The following boats were locked through Dam No. 8 Monday night and Tuesday: The J. H. Hillman, mingo to Pittsburgh, with three empty barges; the Beacon, Weir, on to Pittsburgh, with five empty barges; the Edgar Thompson, Pittsburgh to Mingo, with six barges of coke and return with six empty barges; the Shawnee, Wheeling to Pittsburgh, with two empty barges; and the Senator Cordill, Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, with 150 tons of merchandise.

Clean Sidewalks, Aid Jobless

An old city ordinance which occupies the cob-webbed pages of the statute books—sections of the law which seldom, if ever, are enforced—provides for the removal by property owners of all ice and snow from sidewalks within 24 hours.

Attention to this ordinance was directed today in a communication to The Review, which said:

"In view of the unemployment situation, why not enforce the ordinance requiring the removal of ice and snow from sidewalks to the limit? The majority of the city's sidewalks are covered with ice and dangerous to walk upon. Cleaning them will remove the hazard. Enforcement of the ordinance will not be a handicap on anyone, for persons who are working can afford the nominal price the unemployed man would charge, while an unemployed man surely has the time to clean his own sidewalk."

As the writer points out, the municipal bureau of welfare and relief, with headquarters in the mayor's office at the Central fire station, stands ready to cooperate in the movement if requests for unemployed men are filed there.

Enforcement of the ordinance is up to the city officials. Let's get busy, gentlemen.

Too Big for Bicycles

The United States, or that part of it which accepts the responsibility of worrying about national representation in the coming Olympic games at Los Angeles, is wondering where it will find bicycle riders. A team of boys on vacation from school wouldn't mean much in competition with grown men who ride bicycles for sport.

There is an age limit for cyclists in this country, and it is low. Telegraph company couriers are the only ones who press it, in fact. By the time boys who do not have to work for a living are as old as the average messenger boys they consider themselves too big for bicycles. They have roadsters instead.

Professional cyclists are practically non-existent. Entrants in the spectacular six-day bicycle races which have been made to pay out on their merits as spectacles in New York and Chicago are foreigners—national heroes abroad, but performers here, with no more personal identity than circus clowns. Bicycles simply aren't in America's line, either in sport or utilitarian use.

Perhaps it is because they are too cheap. The head of a family would lose prestige if he pedaled himself 20 blocks to his place of business. He must ride in a sedan. The bicycle racks built at schoolhouses for his children are empty, for the same reason. Parking lots will be part of the school plants of the future.

Utilitarian use is the basis for sports popularity. Americans enjoy the annual spectacle at Indianapolis because they use automobiles. Foreigners enjoy bicycle races because they use bicycles. To repeat the question: Where will the United States round up enough accomplished bicycle riders to represent it in the Olympic games?

The Great Game

Warning that the great game of politics will be played for all it is worth until next November have been displayed. The voters, who are expected to get a lot of enjoyment from the spectacle, are prepared. A brief encounter between Senator Moses and Speaker Garner gives a clue to what may come later. Both parties are old hands at the game. They got off to a good start.

Mr. Garner started it by blaming President Hoover for the "panic"—not the depression but the "panic." Mr. Moses, thereupon sought to even things up by making certain facetious suggestions to the Florida Texan.

As soon as Mr. Garner uncovers his tracks through the tell-tale swamps of prohibition legislation he may add charges that Mr. Hoover caused the World War, the war debts, bolshevism, the drought, Europe's credit collapse and overproduction of coffee, sugar, rubber, copper and wheat, Senator Moses advised. "I marvel," he says facetiously, "at the moderation with which Mr. Garner has now begun his formal campaign for the presidency with the simply and single assertion that President Hoover brought on a panic."

This, of course, calls for Mr. Garner's best sarcasm, to wit: "Senator Moses' statement covers considerable territory. It would indicate that to this he has given about the same amount of thought as to his famous remark when he referred the Republican senators from the west as sons of the wild jackass. In fact, the senator's statement will be, as usual, quite amusing to the reactionary elements in the Republican party."

This is the great game of politics as it is played—but for whom? The vigor of the action indicates that the players think they are performing for a large and appreciative crowd. They had better look again. The public is in no mood for clowning.

France Held Them.

A French political group without parliamentary representation but with an interesting idea is reported to have sent a significant communication to each United States congressman. The group's stand on war debts is bound to get attention.

Briefly, it places the United States under heavy obligations to France for holding the enemy until American troops were sent to the rescue, or as the letter puts it, "for holding the battle front during the American preparation." Otherwise, the Allies, including the United States, would have been defeated.

For this appreciation service remuneration of $6,000,000,000 is asked. In other words, the United States owes France money. Perhaps the answer to that is the same that France has been giving the United States tacitly—"What about it? When we get it from Germany we'll give it to you."

Taxpayers, unfortunately, are planning to be stubborn about war debts. To them it is as much a matter of business as an income tax return. Someone has to pay for the war loans and it is going to be difficult to convince Americans that it is their proper destiny to hold the bag. They can be talked out of a lot of things, but taxation figures in black and white speak for themselves.

The French Realists, for such is the name adopted by the Gallic patriots, have an interesting idea, but not half so interesting on this side of the Atlantic as curious speculation on how much the World War would have cost France had the United States remained out of it entirely. France held them, but more like a desperate man holds an angry bulldog than as the appointed savior of her friend across the ocean.

The League Acts Again.

While emphasis continues to be given to the very best of intentions at Shanghai by machine guns and "very small" bombs the League of Nations assembly is meeting at Geneva in extraordinary session to consider ways and means of stopping the war that isn't and the peace that rageth in the far east.

There has only been one other extraordinary session of the league, and it wasn't called to stop the nationalities of two jealous nations from having at each other's throats, but to pass upon Germany's request for membership. There is no precedent for the occasion, which may account for what probably will turn out to be the further frustration of the gilded peace machine in the rough habitation of Mars.

What the League of Nations possibly can do in the face of the grim paradoxes that so puzzle the world is a clouded question. As a matter of fact the whole thing isn't a war at all officially. The Japanese sweetly announce their readiness to call it a day and arbitrate the rest of the business, all the while tightening their grip on China's harassed neck. And the part of China that is free and still kicking asserts stoutly that it hasn't the least intention of giving up until it has repulsed the foe that, with a startling resemblance of American reasoning when the Philippines were the stake, argues that it is all being done for China's own good.

It may be well to note that the covenant of the League of Nations specifically provides that any dispute laid before the League council shall be referred to the assembly at the request of either party to the dispute. The special session, therefore, was obligatory. China, which is obliged to grasp at straws, called it. Perhaps the tactful way out would be to follow the example of the United States, declare the game off so far as recognizing final scores is concerned, and let Japan deal with further Chinese "aggression" as seems fitting at the moment.

The machinery of reconstruction has been set in motion. It has been grinding steadily and quietly for almost a month. What are its products?

Among other things showing improvement, there were fewer bank failures over the country in the month of February than during any month since last July.

From Feb. 17 to March 3, only one national bank failed while three were reopening. During the entire month of February seven national banks reopened; only one reopened in January.

Total bank failures during the month declined in similar fashion. Complete figures are not available, but failures declined two-thirds from the January record. In February, 1931, there were on the average of two more failures a day than in February this year.

Approximately $48,000,000 of hoarded currency is believed to have been returned to circulation during the same period. During the seven days ending March 2, the federal reserve board announced that $9,000,000 had been returned to banks, although the flow might have been expected to go in the other direction owing to end of the month bill settlements.

Every week since Feb. 3 the amount of currency outstanding, which is the index of hoarding, has decreased. It means that confidence is returning—slowly, but surely.

These facts, quality as evidence that efforts in behalf of national reconstruction are bringing results. The Reconstruction Finance Corp., the liberalization of federal reserve restrictions effected by passage of the Glass-Steagall banking bill and the Citizen's Reconstruction organization are getting their teeth into the depression bogey. Skeptics have been wondering what good effects the reconstruction program might cause. The answers aren't hard to find.

THE INDIANS' SENSE OF HUMOR.

By J. H. Galbraith.

For The Associated Press

A noted Ohioan wrote a book entitled, "Why We Laugh," and many have studied the philosophy of humor with a view to definitely defining the humorous, but after all that has been said and written the old rule of "de gustibus" seems to govern, and what seems funny to one may not be to another.

The Indians are constitutionally stolid. Many who lived with, or among them, for years, declared they never knew an Indian to laugh. Yet the Indian was not wholly without a sense of humor, as an incident told in the annual of the first white settlers in what is now Bladen township, Franklin county, shows.

When the Griswolds of that settlement started from their home in New England, realizing that they would need a grindstone to sharpen their tools, placed a small unmounted stone on the bottom of the wagon bed, and soon after arriving at their western home mounted it on a trestle with a crank to operate it. It was noted that when the Indians first saw the operation of the stone they laughed immoderately.

But the Indians soon learned the useful side of the new instrument, and came to sharpen the few metallic tools they possessed. They came so often that the stone was finally taken from its mounting and hidden under the cabin floor. When the Indians came next to use it they were given to understand that it was gone, but they evidently doubted this for they made menacing signs and it was deemed best to produce the stone.

New York Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 9.—Nudity becomes a boon to certain photographers wrestling with depression woes. Such photography once had barn loft secrecy. Today one agency alone has more than 500 names boldly registered. The idea becomes a "meal ticket" for many once spurning this sort of posing.

In the Cosmopolitan era girls were paid from $25 to $50 to visit studios and disrobe for photographs. The prints are made up and shipped in lots of five and ten thousand to South American countries. Blondes are a natural sell like hot cakes in Cuba.

Sometimes different heads are placed on bodies and are labeled with grandiloquent names such as Carlotta Vere de Vere. Another tremendous market is developed among so-called Art Magazines. Under this masquerade they are hawked as pornographic exhibits along 14th street and between acts at rowdy shows.

On Broadway, after dark, they are sold furtively in the manner of the naughty French post cards in Paris. Now and then the likenesses of professional posers are displayed in those pert shops, niched in the clumsy cubistry of Broadway, to make passers-by "tingle like conscious."

There are girls, too, who buy their own pictures. This saves them disrobing for certain theatrical producers, who specialize in what is known in the trade as "flesh shows." Midtown has four continuous burlesque shows presenting "strip acts."

Another minor source of revenue for the Godiva specialists are light ladies, who have themselves kinked for the "sucker trade." Such pastels are conspicuously distributed about apartments and after a few drinks are sold for high prices. A number of flappers and thrill seeking debutantes have posed merely for "the fun of the thing." They buy the plates, but in one or two instances, originals got out of hand and showed up in underwear ads. Before all those people!

Skipping from the ribald to the serious in art, Tony Balcom has originated a new note in artistry, that might be called The Tin Can School. Out of coffee containers, he deftly slashes surprising statuette of cowboys and fish. The clientele is mostly yacht owners, of which several are reported left.

Out of the crop of similes Frank J. Wilstach garnered from the 1931 harvest, he presents this duo of gems: Close together as 20 minutes to eight . . . Sincere as a tap dancer's smile.

Savage rhythm note: Earl Carroll has never missed the barbaric bolero number in his current production. He hears it from a balcony, high in the flies—alone.

One of the finest collections of George Washington relics in America is owned by Messmore Kendall, proprietor of the Capitol theater. Among other personal belongings of the first president in the collection, are his shaving outfit, a half dozen locks of hair at various ages, compass, saddle kit and the like. There are also original door knobs from the Mt. Vernon home and a pair of frayed slippers belonging to Martha Washington. Mr. Kendall also owns the enormous library of theatrical books of the Houdini collection.

Many friends have a zeal for collecting. Irvin Cobb goes in for Indian regalia. Ray Long for Zorn etchings. Gabriel Hess for ship models. Homer Crox, epitaphs. George Young, stamps. John Gold-ton, theater programs. William Gaxton, walking sticks. And so on. My own knack for collecting has developed an unconscious flair for defaulting foreign bonds, of which I have a complete set, including the Peruvian. There's a country—Peru! But why the r?

How To Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

"BILIOUSNESS" is an expression used to describe a condition in which there is a headache and a feeling of dizziness. The victim has a yellowish discoloration of the skin and complains of vague and discomforting pains. He is spoken of as "bilious looking."

The word "bilious" is not applied to a disease, but merely to the symptoms of a digestive disorder. As commonly used it refers to a disturbance of the liver, and is associated with something wrong with the formation of bile.

Whenever there is any disturbance in the processes involved in the secretion of bile, gastric disorders are sure to follow. There may be digestive disorders without any disturbance in the quantity or quality of the bile. For this reason, the word bilious is improperly used in many instances.

Digestion is influenced by many things. Primarily, the process of digestion depends largely on the condition of the stomach. It is affected by the state of the intestine, liver or pancreas, or even by the health of the mouth. From all these sources come certain juices which act in a definite manner upon the food we eat.

For example, when we chew food, saliva is secreted and added to the saliva has a definite action upon the food in the mouth and prepares it for digestion in the stomach.

If the food is not properly prepared before it reaches the stomach, there is interference with gastric digestion. As a result of such interference, an excess of acids irritate the membrane lining of that organ and may cause the discomfort often referred to as biliousness.

Another result of this irritation is to disturb the normal circulation of the stomach. This disturbance sends reflexes to the intestine, liver and pancreas and produces distressing symptoms. The stomach is not able to do its work properly, and food leaves it in the form of a mass of half-digested and possibly fermented material. Then it cannot be properly handled by and absorbed in the intestine.

The thing that causes the most trouble is a lack of alkaline juices. These are necessary to neutralize the normal acid content of the

The Reviewing Stand

By TOM T. JONES

GEORGE WASHINGTON, in his palatial and attractive home, Mt. Vernon, on the banks of the Potomac river, ate his final Christmas dinner in the same year that Thomas Fawcett, his wife, sons, daughters and son-in-law, the founders of East Liverpool parrot of their initial Yuletide repast upon the banks of the Ohio and on the plot that has since become known as "The Pottery Center of the World."

It was in 1798 that East Liverpool was settled following the purchasing of what is now much of the West End of East Liverpool and a part of its business district from Colonel Isaac Craig of Pittsburgh. He was a former officer under General Washington in the Revolution and for several years an official of the First Presbyterian church in Pittsburgh.

Seventeen Ninety Eight was a notable year in the history of George Washington. For it was the last one since his birth in 1732 that he lived through, its entire 12 months. In the following year he succumbed on Dec. 14. Thus it was that he ate his final Christmas dinner upon Dec. 25, 1798. While he was at the moment devouring the delicacies of his estate which no doubt included turkey and other fowl and other meats, for the custom of the day demanded a well-filled table, there must have been a meagreness in the menu of the first inhabitants of East Liverpool upon their first Christmas repast here.

There is no record at the moment of what the local founders ate upon that occasion. It is possible that they brought turkeys and fowl with them when they rafted their way down the Ohio river to the serpentine bend off Jethro and near what is now Patterson field where they erected their initial house and for a time lived in it. They may have found wild turkey hereabouts at the time. It well may be they were able to have venison ro even bear meat. Anyway, they realizing that it was their first Christmas dinner in their new home, did not know that it happened to be also the last yuletide one which the first President of the United States was to enjoy upon earth.

GEORGE WASHINGTON in 1798 was 66 years of age. He was 10 years older than was Abraham Lincoln when he became the victim of an assassin's bullet in 1865. Yet this fact did not deter him from making his last appearance in the service of his country. For it was in 1798, with the United States facing a clash with France, that Congress and President John Adams took steps to name the then only former President, commander-in-chief of all of the armies that were to be raised to combat the nation across the Atlantic which had so signally aided the colonies in their fight for independence.

Thus the year 1798, when East Liverpool was settled, qualified as the interim when for the second time in his life this honor had come to Washington. No President since has thus been called to serve his country. Although in his retirement and wishing for nothing but to be permitted to engage in the development of his estate while farming upon it he agreed to do that demanded of him.

It was John Adams, who as a member of the Continental Congress in 1775, who made the motion designating the then Colonel George Washington as the commander in chief of the armies that were to be raised to fight England. In 1798, some 23 years later, it was he, now the second President of the United States, who again nominated him for the same place.

When Thomas Fawcett and his family came to what is now East Liverpool to cast their fortunes on territory that had been inspected by George Washington, 28 years previously, the times were out of joint. The tension with France was acute. Just a short time before, one of the three envoys to France when some of the officials of that country suggested that the situation could be calmed by the paying of the sum of money, unhesitatingly declared: "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

The stress of the nation was so keen that President John Adams had been moved to call a day of fasting and prayer. There are those who declare that Dunmore's war, in 1774, had constituted the initial battle of the Revolution. It was also declared to have been largely initiated by the massacre of Indians just across the river from Yellow creek.

DANIEL GREATHOUSE, the reported leader of this murder of Indians in what is now West Virginia, had lived almost directly opposite the site of the early home of Thomas Fawcett. Some of the remains of the old blockhouse in which he had lived must have been discernable to the new settlers just across the river. Into such a setting with a seeming certainty of another war with a foreign country impending Thomas Fawcett came into this now potery locality.

At the time of his arrival here the second session of the fifth congress was in its activities at Philadelphia. It thus follows that the interim measured by the time between the fifth and the 72nd congress which is now East Liverpool, 134 years. Then the first vice president of the United States, John Adams, was functioning as its second President. Now Herbert Hoover is the 31st President. Since East Liverpool was settled there have been 67 congresses which strangely enough represent the years of the lifetime of George Washington by 1932, when the 200th anniversary of his birth is being so generally celebrated.

It was in 1798 that the song, "Hail Columbia," was composed by a Philadelphia lawyer to be sung in a Philadelphia theater upon July 4 of that year which happened to be the 22nd anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. It was composed by a lawyer and given to a friend, a singer.

The year of the settlement of East Liverpool marks also the interim when the ship of undying fame, "The Constitution," was commissioned. Later to be known as "Old Ironsides" it had a leading part in the later war of 1812. Sentiment has caused its preservation throughout the years and the waves continue to strike its sides now as in the past.

Singularly enough it was in this same year, that in which East Liverpool was settled, that a navy department was created by the United States government and Benjamin Stoddard of Maryland named as the first secretary of the navy. It was in this year also that the marine corps was also organized. It has thus had 134 years of heroic history behind it.

In 1798, the year of the settlement of East Liverpool, occurred the first physical clash between two members of the house of representatives. The two principals in the affair were Matthew Lyon, an Irishman, then representing a district from Vermont in the house, and Roger Griswold, of Connecticut.

It so happened that later both of these men had unusual records. Matthew Lyon removed to Kentucky from which state he was again elected to congress. In later years he removed to Arkansas. He was a candidate for congress from that state also but met defeat. He passed away in that state, but several years thereafter his remains were taken back to Kentucky.

Roger Griswold became in succeeding years a governor of Connecticut. He could have been secretary of the navy in the cabinet of John Adams. Another strange fact about these two personal physical combatants in the year of East Liverpool's founding upon the floor of the national house was that both had sons who became in later years also members of congress.

In the case of Matthew Lyon he had a grandson who from 1893 to 1909 was one of the outstanding members and leaders of the house of representatives in Washington upon the Republican side. He was the Honorable W. H. Hepburn of Iowa who was born in Wellsville, just four miles below the spot where Thomas Fawcett settled in 1798 the year that his grandfather established a precedent by an encounter with a fellow member in the house.

It was in this same year of 1798, notable for East Liverpool, that President John Adams appointed Bushrod Washington, the nephew of George Washington, as the 13th justice of the United States supreme court. He served for 31 years, thus having one of the longest records of service in that body of outstanding legal men. He was out of the court at the time of his appointment. He passed away in 1826. He was thus the same age as Washington, 67. It was he, after the passing of Martha Washington, who inherited Mt. Vernon, Washington's home upon the Potomac.

It was upon the second Christmas that Thomas Fawcett and his family spent in East Liverpool, Dec. 25, 1798, that the first sermon was preached in what is now its corporate limits. It was by Rev. Robert Dobbins, a Methodist minister. It was doubtless delivered in the Fawcett home, just off Patterson field and possibly followed a Yuletide repast. It is additionally interesting to note that the initial sermon in East Liverpool was delivered just 11 days after George Washington had passed away.

It was in this year of 1798 that the members of the Cherokee tribes of Indians were permitted to have free passage from Tennessee into Kentucky by way of the Cumberland Gap. All French treaties were declared void in that interim and the Allen and Sedition laws passed.

It was in this year, that in which East Liverpool was settled, that Mississippi was organized as a territory. Thus it came about that lands that became the later state of that name became in after years the home of Jefferson Davis from where he developed his doctrine of state rights which all but severed the Union in the sixties.

It was in 1798 that Harper's Ferry, Va., was selected as a site for a government arsenal. There, in 1859, occurred the famous raid of John Brown in which Columbian county men took part that went for in developing feeling that culminated in the Civil War.

The Northwest territory of which East Liverpool was then a part in 1798 assumed its second phase of territorial government. It was then that the entire state now known as Michigan comprised a single county, Wayne. It was doubtless named for General "Mad Anthony" Wayne. At the time it sent a single representative from this entire domain to the session of the Ohio General Assembly which was then convening in Chillicothe, Ross county.

It was in the same year that Rev. John Carroll, D. D., was consecrated bishop of Baltimore with jurisdiction over all of the members of the Roman Catholic church then in the United States. He was the first bishop consecrated in the United States. There was at the time of the settlement of East Liverpool, in 1798, and Irish rebellion in England. It necessitated the suspension of habeas corpus.

The law permitting imprisonment for debt was rescinded in 1798 as Thomas Fawcett was doing his initial work as the founder of East Liverpool. The year was an unusual one. War was threatened, the times were bad in a material way and Washington who, just two years previously, in 1796, had given his farewell address to the American people, was living in the shadows of the hereafter.

SYNOPSIS: Once a young social leader—now a business woman—Young Hope Rose tried to forget the unhappy ending of her marriage to Dickey Dale. Her father told her, when he had the marriage annulled, that Dickey did not attempt to see her. She does not know her father kept him from doing so.

Chapter 27
WEARING A RING
ALL that winter Hope toiled with a ceaseless energy. For six weeks she had run away during the summer for a rest on the old ranch with Mrs. Manly; and then back again she tramped to relieve Judy and carry on the shop single-handed. The double work was more exciting and sweet than her own vacation.

For Judy went to Chicago on her time off, only to find, to her utter amazement, that Tom was making good—not as a saxophone player but as a singer! A crooner! He called him, as they handed him three hundred a week with an option at a bulkier sum! Tom, who had never lifted his voice in Judy's presence, never even dreamed himself that he could sing, was billed in lights that big as a crooner! Judy wept as she sat at a table to watch and listen to her Tom. Judy spattered tears on the telegram forms as she sent daily, almost hourly, messages of joy to Hope. Judy choked with tears over the long-distance phone.

And when Judy came home (telling nobody but Hope of her successful crooner, who looked so precious standing under the spot light in the grandest tuxedo), she pitched into work with a new vigor. The first time in four years, she saw a hope of material success for herself and her erstwhile saxophone player?

Not one of the townfolk's prophecies came true. Hope did not tire and give it up as a whim. So little did she lose interest, that in the fall she announced the decision to open a shop on Madison avenue, New York. Delighted that she had found some serious interest, Papa Ross gladly offered to supply the money; and perhaps Hope never felt a keener thrill than when she refused it, and announced that she and Judy could run the business without extra help.

The shops were fun! They were successful, and success brings a vital and heady thrill. Hope was interested, she did enjoy the work and she did relish the knowledge of her ability. She and Judy were making money. Judy was on the verge of throwing Frisky into the arms of the chorus girl he really wanted. And best of all, Hope would soon be twenty-one, and she would be a million dollars richer. She was into her grandmother's inheritance of five hundred a week until she was thirty-five, and then one half-million dollars outright. Life was gradually meaning something—independence!

The fact that her New York shop and Dickey Dale's musical comedy opened on the same date that autumn, seemed like a good omen to her. Terribly she wanted to send a telegram of congratulation to Dickey! Terribly she wondered if he had heard of her business—or knew of her doings.

Quite calm and radiant, she attended Dickey's opening that night with Rusty Crandall by her side. Attended it and dusted out the last obscure corners of the theater with her keenest glances for some sight of Dickey—or Hickey! Went home and cried herself to sleep because she hadn't seen either of them, because the show was so beautiful and because it meant Dickey would have a brilliant start with his career. (Oh, please do write a play, Dickey, because they make so much money. . . .)

But shortly after Christmas came the crash to all her hard-earned poise. Just one little item in a newspaper! Just a paragraph no bigger than Sassy's forehead—just a few black words—announcing the engagement of one Eileen Argye to Richard J. Hickson Dale!

No need of keeping the clipping, for every word was turned into her thoughts, to haunt her waking or sleeping. But Hope didn't cry. She didn't even feel like crying. She went down to her New York shop and sent out bloomers without dresses, eight-ounce bottles instead of booties, and confused the entire day's sales with calm and thoughtful inaccuracy. All the long spring months she plodded through her work and her play. Conscience of only one ceaseless undercurrent of thought—Dickey was not only gone—but the lost! Dickey loved someone else, and held her close, and kissed her. . . . A good girl no doubt, who didn't get into scandals, who wasn't an outrageous flirt. And who was she? Did she have lots of money, or didn't Dickey care so much these days about inheritances?

If only she could let him know about her inheritance that was soon to come and set her free. She would have no pride about it. But maybe with a hit show he didn't care about money now. . . . Probably he didn't have to care so much. And did he ever tell Eileen about her? How did he explain it—that queer marriage—and what did he say in describing Hope? Quiet, calm, subdued, Hope absorbed all that went on about her. Judy's happy engagement to the boy she truly loved: Tom Post came into his own at last—a hit on the radio as a crooner at seven hundred a week. And Frisky really relieved that he was through. Betty married in May. And Flora Rordau in June. . . . Everyone falling in love, getting engaged, planning for marriage. . . .

And so, merely because of the vacuous pain in her lonely heart, and because of the realization of one true and remaining devotion that should not lightly be discarded. Hope herself said "yes" one night in June. Yes, she promised Rusty Crandall, and felt like crying at the all-embracing fever of joy and stuttering plans of his faithful, dog-like devotion. Sat beside Rusty and watched his face light up as he talked so tenderly, remembering how she had watched him grow from knee pants into manhood, and wondering why she could not care for him any more than she did. Wondering why she couldn't feel stirred at the thoughts of a home for herself as he planned it—at the fact that someone was elaborately scheming for her happiness, even though he knew she didn't love him! Yes, he knew—he knew Dickey was still a husky ghost in her mind—but it didn't matter. He would win her love. . . .

Home, they told of their engagement to their parents and a few of their friends, but Hope insisted that they should not announce it publicly for a while. She preferred, Swift surprise, tomorrow, and Hope forms a startling plan. Secret preparations end—with Hope facing Dickey.

THE PREVAILING PATTERN

PRACTICAL AND COMFORTABLE
PATTERN 2245
Step-by-Step Instruction Diagrams
Given With This Pattern
By Anne Adams

This model will appeal to the busy housewife, the nurse and the worker in beauty parlor and doctor's office, as it may be used as dress or apron. The pointed details of collar, cuffs and pockets lend pleasing variety to the casual practical dress. This model opens out flat in coat fashion, and the fronts are reversible. Say, how come, guy.
You dropped that fly
And spoiled the no-hit game I'm pitchin'?
What put you off?
Oh, yeah . . . a cough?
Yuh couldn't stop yer throat from twitchin'?

Them fags yuh smoke
Would make you choke.
Well, listen to what I'm remarkin'—
You just arrange
To make a change
And smoke OLD GOLDS and stop that barkin'!

17 CANDIDATES SEEK OFFICE IN CHESTER VOTE THURSDAY

POLLS TO OPEN AT 6:21 A. M. IN FIVE ZONES

Sunset Closing Hour For Balloting Is 6:01 P. M. SEE 1,500 COUNT Wilson-Bonjour Race For Mayor Wins Interest.

About 1,500 Chester voters are expected to go to the polls Thursday, when a mayor, city clerk, five councilmen and a school board member will be chosen from 17 candidates, representing three tickets. The polls will open at sunrise 6:21 a. m., and close at sunset, 6:01 p. m.

Interest is centered in the mayor, city clerk and school board races. Mayor A. Earl Wilson, Republican incumbent who was endorsed by the Citizens, will be opposed by E. S. Bonjour, hardware and radio dealer, who is the independent nominee. In the city clerk fight, Virgil Hasson, Republican incumbent, and Dwight Allison, independent citizen, are the nominees.

Four School Board Candidates The school board race is non-partisan. The candidates are Dr. Watkins, president of the board, whose term expires in July; W. T. Parsons, George Cook and F. Lee Freshwater.

In the council race, the Republican nominees in the First ward, Albert J. Kell, incumbent, will be unopposed, owing to the withdrawal of Thayer McDaniel, independent. Kell was endorsed by the Citizens. John Hobbs, incumbent, is the Republican-Citizen nominee in the Second ward, while the independent candidate is J. Floyd Peddycord.

Joseph Davis, Republican-independent nominee in the Third ward post, will oppose J. Albert Haney, Citizen. Charles Davis, incumbent, is the Republican candidate in the Fourth ward, while Logan Wallace is the independent-Citizen nominee. In the Fifth ward the present councilman, W. G. McGahan, nominated by the Republicans and endorsed by the Citizens, will oppose Percy Willison, independent.

Candidates Are Listed A list of the candidates follows: Republican—Mayor, A. Earl Wilson; city clerk, Virgil Hasson; councilmen, first ward, Albert J. Kell; second, John Hobbs; third, Joseph Davis; fourth, Charles Davis; fifth, W. G. McGahan.

Independent—Mayor, E. S. Bonjour; city clerk, Dwight Allison; councilmen, first ward, no candidate; second, J. Floyd Peddycord; third, Joseph Davis; fourth, Logan Wallace; fifth, Percy Willison.

Citizens—Mayor, A. Earl Wilson; city clerk, Dwight Allison; councilmen, first ward, J. Albert Kell; second, John Hobbs; third, J. Albert Haney; fourth, Logan Wallace; fifth, W. G. McGahan.

School board—Dr. R. D. Watkins, W. T. Parsons, George Cook and F. Lee Freshwater.

Voting Places Announced The location of the voting places and the precinct officials are:

First ward—Magley's garage, First street; clerks, Donald Hartford and Miss Virginia Cundiff; commissioners, John Robb, George Bennett and Thomas A. Cunningham.

Second ward—Parker building, Fourth street and Carolina avenue; clerks, Mrs. J. Smith and Mrs. Earl Milby; commissioners, John Plankinton, Walter Allison and Robert McKenty.

Third ward—City hall, Carolina avenue; clerks, Mrs. C. R. Beatty and Miss Alice Evans; commissioners, Tennyson Hoskinson, Luther Allison and Wayne Morrow.

Fourth ward—Clapperton Brothers store, Carolina avenue; clerks, Miss Grace Cochran and Mrs. Enoch Riley; commissioners, Jay Minor, Floyd Penn and Lester Wehner.

Fifth ward—Albert Mader carpenter shop, Neptune avenue; clerks, Lawrence Smith and Mrs. Loretta Amend; commissioners, Byron T. Skinner, John Allison and James Williams.

Ten persons accepted the invitation to live the Christian life following the discourse of the evangelist. On Monday night seven also took the same step, making a total of 94 who have done so since the beginning of the present series of meetings.

He announced that he will speak tonight upon the subject, "Seven Reasons Why I Am a Preacher in the Church of Christ."

Showing marked improvement from a brief illness the Rev. W. H. Baker, the pastor, was able to be in attendance at the service last evening. He officiated at the baptism of ten persons during the meeting.

"To be simply moral in one's attitude to life does not constitute Christianity," maintained Rev. McReynolds. "There are those however, who are depending entirely upon morality for their soul's salvation."

"Others there are who go through life upon the belief that there is no hell and govern themselves accordingly. These two will be doomed to disappointment."

"All will find that salvation is possible only by means of the atoning blood of Christ. Those who in utter faith throw themselves humbly upon the Christ trusting Him to the utmost will find themselves in the way for spiritual security."

REV. GLUNT SPEAKS

Pittsburgh Minister Preaches at First Presbyterian Church.

To a good-sized audience, despite the inclement night, Rev. George Lang Glunt of Pittsburgh, outlined the part which serious thought has in the process that leads to individual salvation at the First Presbyterian revival on East Fourth street Tuesday night. His subject was "The Turning Point in One's Life."

He based his discourse upon the 119th Psalm wherein he maintained that the secret of the Psalmist's conversion had its origin in his individual thinking. His subject for tonight's service will be "The Triumphal Entry."

"People think along lines that lead them to right relationship to God by reason of different causes," he said. "Some initially are moved to do so because of calamities that have come to them or theirs; others are moved by periods of sickness."

"An analysis of every changed life will reveal the fact that something seemingly outward has in the beginning changed one's regular mode of thinking."

"The Psalmist on this occasion when he spoke of his own condition and had begun to think of his relationship to God compared himself not to the worst sinner but to his own ways. There is a tendency on the part of some Christians to want to be respectable members of the church and not workers. They would have others to do the work necessary for the propagation of the kingdom."

ROOSEVELT WINS 8 VOTES

Smith-pledged Men Defeated in New Hampshire.

By The Associated Press.
CONCORD, N. H., March 9.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt is the winner of the first round in his battle with Alfred E. Smith, for the 1932 Democratic presidential nomination.

By a sweeping victory over Smith's forces in yesterday's state primary — their first test of strength at the polls and the first presidential primary of the pre-convention campaign — Roosevelt gathered New Hampshire's eight votes in the national convention into his column.

With a few scattering returns from some of the state's 224 towns and 11 cities, still missing, the unofficial returns showed the eight Roosevelt pledged candidates for delegates-at-large elected by a margin of approximately 4,500.

Four district delegates were elected. They also were pledged to Roosevelt.

A lighter vote than expected in the cities to which the Smith forces looked for their greatest strength, together with a rural vote generally favorable to Roosevelt, combined in the result.

An unopposed Republican ticket, pledged to President Hoover, was elected.

Roosevelt leaders were jubilant at the result.

PROOF of RIVERSIDE QUALITY

FRANK J. BUCK
Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago, Illinois

Having ordered from you for many years, from auto jacks to a machine shop, it is no more than right that a few words of praise be sent along with the order enclosed. Not one outfit in the world gives auto tires such rough treatment as the Death Valley Exploration Co. My work takes me from one end of valley to the other. At times the thermometer of valley to the other, once up to 132. Every 10 days I drive the round trip from the mines to Barstow loaded with 1,000 to 1,200 lbs. The first 26 miles takes 2 hours to drive. No road for 7 miles up grade over sharp lava rocks. Next 5 miles of boulders and sand wash — here many cars miles of grief. Have made many miles where my car was the first. Another well-known make of tire stood only two trips into the desert. Seventy-five percent of the time my car is in the blistering sun, yet my full set of Riversides in use more than 2 years is not even weather-checked like some of the high priced tires I formerly used. Besides this car, we are using three 2-ton trucks Riverside equipped. Also all my men are using Riverside sides as they have seen the results for themselves.

Yours sincerely,
Frank J. Buck

RECORD ENTRY EXPECTED IN TOURNAMENT

Juniors Here For 3rd Year

Large Number of Floor Quints Ready For Court Classic.

By ROBERT ELLIOTT, Sports Editor, The Review.

POSSIBILITY that the entry list for the third annual Junior Tri-State basketball tournament here Friday and Saturday, March 18 and 19, will be the greatest in the history of the floor event, was expressed today by officials of the Tri-State Junior Athletic association, sponsors of the tourney.

Inquiries have been received from a large number of teams in the Tri-State district and all expressed their intentions of entering. The weight limit has been removed by the tourney sponsors and the age limit raised to 20, thus giving the patrons of the Junior affair a chance to look over some of the finest high school quintets in the section.

Three Tourneys.

The Junior tournament will inaugurate East Liverpool's annual three-week basketball orgy. On March 25-26 the second annual Tri-State girls' tournament will be held, followed by the seventh annual Senior Tri-State tourney on April 1-2.

Officials in charge of the Junior tourney have arranged a finer and larger array of prizes than ever before. They include 28-inch trophy and 10 gold charms to winning quint; 20-inch silver trophy and 10 silver charms to runners-up; silver trophies to winners and losers of consolation game, respectively.

Silver basketball trophy, high point man; silver trophy, most valuable player; silver trophy, best foul shooter; gold basketball charms, members of first all-tournament team; silver basketball charms, members of second all-tournament team; bronze basketball charms, members of third all-tournament team; 10 bronze medals, members of team showing best sportsmanship; 10 bronze medals, to team making the best appearance; 10 bronze medals, team coming greatest distance.

The trophies are now on display in the window of the R. G. Brian store in East Fifth street where ticket reservations may also be made. Entry blanks and any information regarding the tourney may be secured by writing H. J. Gallimore, Registrar.

Champs Back.

The Pittsburgh A. A. quint, which won the tournament last year over 56 other outfits, will be back to defend its title.

Other quintets which will probably enter the Junior affair are:

St. Mary's high of Clarksburg, W. Va., Cookers of Follansbee with 32 wins to their credit this season, Purple Riders of Weirton, American Legion Juniors of Holliday's Cove, Sewickley high five, Grand Cadets of Pittsburgh, Charleoi Merchants, Oakland "Y" Juniors of Pittsburgh; New Brighton Ramblers, Viking club of Bradock who were finalists in a recent Pittsburgh tournament.

McDonald Merchants, Holy Trinity five of Pittsburgh, Pioneers of Uniontown, McKeesport Olympics, Chi-Macs of Sharpsburg, freshman quint of Muskingum college at New Concord, Lexington Grocers of Cleveland who won the municipal class C league this year, Springfield Ex-Highs of East Akron, Holy Name Juniors and the Catholic Community center club of Steubenville, Firestone Presbyter-

Wooden, Reiff and Daniels on All-Big Ten Cage Selections

Kellar of Purdue and Licht of Minnesota Also On First Quint; Joe Hoffer of Ohio State Guard on Second Five.

By PAUL MICKELSON, Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Purdue's Championship Boiler-makers dominated the lineups of the 1931-32 Big Ten basketball teams, selected for The Associated Press by conference coaches, by placing two stars on the first team, another pair on the second and two more on the honorable mention list.

Their famous star of the hardwoods, Johnny Wooden, led the champions as an unanimous choice of the coaches for the third straight year. Two other famous sharpshooters of the Big Ten cage world, Joe Reiff of Northwestern and Norman Daniels of Michigan landed on the first team for the second straight season by unanimous votes.

Wooden, placed at running guard where he has dazzled Purdue's cage foes for three years, was accompanied on the first team by his First Team

Buckeye Cagers Led By Hoffer

Youngstown Boy Gets 112 Points During Season.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., March 9.—Individual scoring honors in Ohio State university's 1931-32 basketball season went to Joe Hoffer of Youngstown, senior and captain of the team.

Hoffer finished the season with a total of 112 points, 25 more than his nearest rival, Bob Colburn of Dayton and Fred Conrad of Wooster, who tied for second place with 87 points each.

Conrad gained a share in the runner-up position by scoring 13 points last night when the Buckeyes closed their season by losing to the University of Michigan, 30 to 27.

Herb Broan of Dayton, finished with 68 points to be listed just below Colburn and Conrad.

An out-of-stater, Howard Mattison of Erie, Pa., trailed Brown by only four points, his total being 64.

McNutt Honored By School Loop

Former Potter Cager Chosen on Mythical Quintet.

Bill McNutt, regular forward on the 1931 East Liverpool high school basketball quint, was chosen a forward on the all-star five selected by sports writers on the Green and White, Ohio university school publication, among players in the intramural league.

The paper said "Folger and McNutt are the choices for first team forwards. Both are fast, clever passers and good shots."

McNutt is a freshman at Ohio State this season and a member of Phi Delta Theta Theta fraternity.

Fight Results

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK Vincent Hambright, Cincinnati, knocked out Tommy (Twin) Rizzo, New Jersey (2).

DENVER—Mickey Walker, Rumson, N. J., knocked out Jackie Williams, Chicago, (2) Jackie Fields world welterweight champion, knocked out Patsy Pollock, Chicago (2), non-title.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Ray Trambly, Rockford, Ill., knocked out Clyde Chastain, Dallas, Tex., (3); Frankie Gierke, Indianapolis, and Red Hooks, West Palm Beach, drew, (8).

INDIANAPOLIS — Yale Okun, New York, outpointed Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis (10).

RAN SUBS FOR BILLY PETROLLE

NEW YORK, March 9.—Billy Petrolle has a stiff neck and won't be able to fight this Friday night but Christopher (Bat) Battalino is doing no cheering because of that.

When Petrolle announced he wouldn't be able to go through with his 12-round match with the former featherweight champion, Promoter Jimmy Johnston got busy and dug up Billy Ran of Poland as a substitute.

The Polish youngster can knock them kicking with that right hand of his, and Battalino would do extremely well to be extremely cautious. Ran's last two fights have ended in knockouts.

NEW YORK—Ray Steele, 215, Glendale, Cal., threw Herb Freeman, New York, 34:50.

Forward Practices Tuesday

Laughlin Still Out of School and May Not Play.

CONFIDENCE, pure unadulterated confidence, is the keynote of activities in the East Liverpool high school gymnasium as Tom Dixon's Pottery go through their workouts for the finals of the Eastern district tournament at Dennison Friday and Saturday.

With New Philly to be met on Friday afternoon, and the winner of the Marietta-Toronto tussle on Saturday, if the Pottery win their first start, the sledding looks mighty good.

Dick Witherow, the Pottery's leading scorer and crack forward, who has not been in a uniform since the Martins Ferry clash here, participated in yesterday's practice session and Coach Dixon expressed the opinion that he will probably see action Friday. It may be for only a quarter, but that much will help out plenty.

Shooting Practice.

Dick demonstrated that he has not lost that uncanny shooting "eye" in Tuesday's practice and he's likely to give the New Philly lads some bad moments Friday.

Bill Laughlin, sophomore guard, and the backbone of the Potter defense, was not in school Tuesday and may not be in the lineup Friday, Dixon disclosed. However, if he returns for practice this week the sharp-shooting guard will probably be in there for at least a portion of the encounter.

Dixon gave the boys an hour of shooting in yesterday's drill. Those long shots were going through the hoop with regularity and it didn't look any too good for those overconfident gentlemen who went out and bet their hard-earned dollars on New Philly.

The local mentor also indicated that he may shift his lineup for the New Philly engagement, although he hasn't decided definitely.

The shift, if it materializes, will send Bobby Stewart to a forward berth and Harvey Cullen back to guard with Jimmy Turner. Jordy Pennabaker would be Stewart's running mate and Big Bill Weaver would take care of the center position.

If Witherow and Laughlin are both able to start, Cullen may go to the bat-off post with Witherow and Pennabaker at the forwards. Laughlin will replace Stewart at guard and work with Turner.

BALTIMORE — Leo Pinetzk, 283, Poland, threw Don Delaun, 230, Canada, 5:45, and Vanka Zelenski, 235, Russia, 7:15 (two matches); George Kotsenaros, 198, Hollywood, Cal., threw Mike Romano, 205, Chicago, 20:15.

Training Camp Sports Briefs

By The Associated Press.

TAMPA, Fla., March 9.—The Cincinnati Reds meet the champion St. Louis Cardinals at Bradenton today, relying on St. Johnson, Al Eckart, and Owen Carroll to battle the Cardinal batsmen.

But, with first string infielders still at home, the Reds will be forced to use Heath at first, Grant-ham at second Durocher at short, and Andy High at third.

In preparation, the regulars tackled the freshmen of the squad in an unscheduled practice game yesterday. Eppa Rixey, elected to pitch for the rookies, worked so effectively that the regulars lost 4 to 1.

NEW ORLEANS — Five pitchers in whom the Cleveland Indians are interested, were promised a chance to show their stuff in today's practice game between the Tribe and the New Orleans Pelicans.

Howard Crachead, Oral Hildebrand, and Clydus Jones, will work three innings each for the Indians. Steve Sundra, a Cleveland sandlotter, and Benny Edwards will do the hurling for the Pels.

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND—On the eve of departure from this glamorous island, Manager Rogers Hornsby has just about decided on the makeup of the Chicago Cub outfield.

To start the season, Kiki Cuyler probably will be in center, with Riggs Stephenson in left, and Lance Richbourg in right.

The utility outfield jobs lie among Vince Barton, Dan Taylor, Johnny Moore and Marvin Gudat.

LOS ANGELES—John McGraw of the New York Giants has room for two utility infielders to fill in for his regulars, Terry, Critz, Vergez and Jackson, and there are four aspirants for the vacancies.

Eddie Moore, Eddie Marshall and Sam Leslie and Gilbert English, are after the jobs.

ST. PETERSBURG—It used to be Johnny Allen in the New York Yankees' training camp but from now on it probably will be "Zipper."

He collected the new "tag" from the way he "zipped" the ball past the Babe Ruth's team in a practice game yesterday. He allowed only two hits and fanned four in three innings.

SAN FRANCISCO — When the management of the San

Midland Loses To St. Mary's

All-Star Combine in 27 to 13 Setback Tuesday Night.

The Midland Independents lost a hard-fought game to the St. Mary's collegians of Beaver Falls in the Lincoln high school gym Tuesday night by a score of 27 to 13. This is the second defeat handed the Francisco Seals protested against the dearth of regulars in the lineup of the Detroit Tigers for the training schedule opener, Manager Bucky Harris remarked, it is possible those recruits may be the 1932 regulars. They lived up to his advance notice yesterday by pounding three Seal pitchers for 16 hits and winning under wraps, 12 to 7.

PASO ROBLES—After a two day lay off due to adverse weather, the Pittsburgh Pirates were ordered by Manager George Gibson to resume practice today. Capt. "Pie" Traynor will break into the regular lineup for the first time since his arrival in camp while Floyd Young, recruit third baseman who has been playing sparkling ball in Traynor's absence, will cover the hot corner for the Yannigans.

BILOXI, Miss.—A telegram from Heinie Manush saying he would report this afternoon seems to have ended definitely out worries. President Clark Griffith had given the big outfielder a day of grace, but warned him not to report unless he was prepared to accept terms. The word from Heinie was taken, therefore as a good indication, the last dotted line would be inked in.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—With only four players missing now, officials of the St. Louis Browns expected today to have the squad playing at concert pitch by the end of this week. Goose Goslin and Benny Bengough haven't signed yet, but as they are in camp, the club officials apparently are worrying little about the possibility that wage negotiations might fail. Only absentees now are Walter Stewart, star southpaw; "Rip" Collins, right-hander; Ralph Kress, infielder, and Rick Ferrell, first-string backstop.

Foutts Calls Off Thursday Program

Ray Foutts announced today that he had indefinitely postponed his fight show scheduled for the Eagles' auditorium tomorrow night, due to the illness of several of the fighters booked to see action.

The fight promoter will announce later when the show will take place.

Midlanders within the last two weeks and St. Mary's is the only team to outclass the Independents in the series of charity games.

Louis Montani, star forward for St. Mary's, was out of the lineup due to illness, but Coach Murray's squad easily outplayed the Independents from the start, holding Midland scoreless in the first quarter and keeping them on the little end of a 13 to 6 score at half time.

Midland had a new man in the lineup, Ray Schaffer, center, former stellar basketball player from Pittsburg, Migliore, who has jumped center in the first five games this winter, entered the game in the last half.

A third quarter spurt, when St. Mary's piled up 12 points to Midland's 4 did much to set the visitors out front. The last quarter was a slow close-guarded period with Midland leading with three points and St. Mary's trailing with two.

DETROIT PIN TEAMS BUSY

DETROIT, March 9.—Detroit "booster" teams will swing into action again in the 32nd annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress tourney tonight. The local fives will compete for special prizes while helping to break in the 32 new tournament alleys.

The big pin classic was formally opened last night by civic and A. B. C. bowling officials amid a colorful setting.

More than 12,000 bowlers from 260 cities will participate in the bowlers' world series before the windup April 11.

Armour, Dudley In Finals

Meet Golden-Burke Duo in Match Today.

By The Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., March 9.—Tommy Armour of Detroit and Ed Dudley of Concordville, Pa., went into the 36-hole finals of Miami's annual golf classic—the $5,000 international four-ball matches—today through Armour's almost single handed 3 and 2 victory over Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell.

Armour and Dudley met the bid of Billy Burke, national open champion, and Johnny Golden of Noroton, Conn., for final honors today. The latter team won 2 and 1 in semi-final play from Harry Hampton of Chicago and Nell McIntyre of Indianapolis.

Armour counted a 34-32—66, two strokes under the course record and six under par, on his morning round for low medal score of the day.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Silverthorn entertained informally Tuesday at their home in Third street, Chester. Gifts of gold and flowers were presented the honor guests. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Silverthorn were united in marriage on March 8, 1882, in the bride's home near Asbury chapel. They were born and reared in Hancock county, where Mr. Silverthorn has been a contractor and carpenter until five years ago, when his back was injured in a fall. Both are in moderate good health. Mrs. Silverthorn is 68 years of age, and her husband is 77. They have seven children, George, Clifford and Donald of Chester; Mrs. Fayette Myler of Wellsville; Mrs. Lola Myler, Mrs. Eddy Woodruff and Hector Silverthorn, all of Gary, Ind. They have 18 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

During the afternoon music was furnished by the guests with Miss Virginia Silverthorn presiding at the piano.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S STUDY club met in regular session Tuesday night in the home of Miss Mary and Helen Diamond, West Fifth street. The program was in charge of the president, Miss Mary Lister, Scotland being the country studies. "The Stuart Dynasty" was the period of history discussed, with special emphasis on the life and death of Mary Stuart, queen of France and queen of Scotland, to whom the quotation of the evening referred: "I am a queen, subject to none but God. Him do I call to witness that I am innocent of the charges brought against me, and recollect, my lords, the theater of the world is wider than the realm of England."

Seventeen club members responded to roll call with items of interest pertinent to the subject under discussion. Mrs. Harold Watson read a paper on "Clans and Customs," followed by Miss Agnes DeTemple, who outlined the reign of the Stuarts from Robert II to Henry V, giving in detail the "Conflict between the Crown and the Nobles," and describing the blackest tragedy in Scottish history, the defeat of the Scotch by the English at Flodden Field. The ill-fated and romantic daughter of the house of Stuart was the subject of Mrs. Lawrence W. Smith's paper, under the title of "Mary Stuart, Queen and Martyr." A descriptive narrative of Sir Walter Scott's country and the ruined abbeys of the border, and the Burns country, were the themes of Miss Lybeth Hamill's talk on "Melrose and the Land of Scott," and "Aryshive and the Land of Burns."

The next meeting of the club will be held in the home of Miss Catherine Walker, 334 Ridgeway avenue, Monday, March 21.

MRS. HARRY HORTON was hostess to members of the Symphony club Tuesday night at her home in Denver street. The last of a series of Indian programs was presented as follows:

Paper, "Indian Love Songs" — Mrs. H. F. Laughlin.
Vocal solo, "Love Like the Dawn Came Stealing" (Cadman) — Miss Ethel Peterson; violin obligato by Miss Ruth Menor.
Reading, "Hiawatha's Wooing" (Longfellow) — Mrs. H. F. Laughlin.
Quartet, "Indian Mountain Song" (Cadman) — Misses Ethel Peterson and Ruth Menor and Mesdames William Malkin and Earl Fife.
Paper, "Indian Medicine Man" — Mrs. R. B. Stevenson.
Piano duet, "Sioux Scalp Dance" (Oren) — Mrs. Harry Horton and Miss Ada McLean.
Vocal solo, "Far Off I Hear a Lover's Flute" (Oren) — Mrs. C. A. Ferguson.

Violin solos, "Ghost Dance" (Troyer); "The Spirit of Wana" (Licurance) — Miss Ruth Menor.
Paper, "Growth of Indian Music" — Mrs. R. B. Stevenson.
Piano solo, "American Indian Rhapsody" (Oren) — Miss Bernice Myler.

Miss Ada McLean was the accompanist of the evening.

Covers were arranged for 15 at the luncheon served by the hostess.

Wonderful results

"I WAS very nervous. I could not stand up under any work. Mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and said it would help my case."

"I tried it with wonderful results. It quieted my nerves and strengthened me. I have gained weight which I needed."

"Now I can do my work and feel well, thanks to the Vegetable Compound." Mrs. Elmer Shultz, R. No. 1, Krakow, Wisconsin.

Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

assisted by Miss Josie McLean, who was a special guest.

The club will meet March 2 in the home of Mrs. H. F. Laughlin, Thompson avenue.

GIRLS' FRIENDLY society enjoyed a 6 o'clock dinner Tuesday night in the parish house, West Fourth street, with Mrs. Robert M. Cartwright as chairman. Covers were arranged for 20. Rev. R. K. Caulk was a special guest.

Following the dinner, a short business session was in charge of Miss Edith Bowen, girls' chairman, during which final plans were made for the food sale to be held Saturday, March 12, at the D. M. Ogilvie store, beginning at 1 o'clock.

Miss Florence Palmer was in charge of the program and presented a lecture on "Industries and Resources of Hawaii."

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, March 15, with Miss Ann Sayre giving a lecture on "Missionaries and Education in Hawaii."

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Methodist Protestant church was held Monday night in the home of Mrs. F. P. DeBolt, West Fourth street. Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Bart Kaufman, after which the business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. H. Rinsinger. Mrs. DeBolt gave a splendid reading on a noted Japanese leader, after which a Pageant of Boxes was presented by ten members.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Gladys DeBolt.

The next meeting will be held April 18 in the home of Mrs. William LaToush, West Fourth street.

A benefit round and square dancing party will be held Friday night, March 11, in the Hookstown Fair Grounds dance hall, under the auspices of the Chester Helping Hand club. Music will be furnished by the Famous Players between the hours of 8 and 1 a. m. The proceeds will be used by the club in obtaining food, work and medical attention for those in need.

Ladies' auxiliary to Private Eddy Post No. 65, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will meet in regular session tonight at 8 o'clock, in the V. F. W. hall, St. Clair avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Schneidmiller entertained members of the Young Ladies' Needlework society of St. John's Lutheran church at her home in Orchard Grove avenue, Monday night. Devotionals were in charge of Miss Gladys Seederly, after which three lenten hymns were discussed by Misses Nola Unger, Gladys Seederly and Ruth Schneidmiller. The announcement of the hymns was made by Miss Dorothy Troutman, after which the assembly sang them.

Twelve members responded to roll call. Special guests included Mrs. Ellsworth Troutman and daughter Dorothy, Miss Ruth and Junior Schneidmiller.

Mrs. John Schneibel of Sarah street will receive the society on March 21.

Members of the N. C. I. club met Monday night with Miss Martha Williams in Ridgeway avenue. The social hours were spent with fan-cywork, after which refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Mae Beech and Mrs. Ann Hagan. Special guests included Mesdames Norman Heath, W. N. Smith and Miss Frances Young.

The club will meet March 21 in the home of Mrs. Mary Pepin, Minerva street.

Fifteen members of the Esther Bible club met Monday night in the home of Miss Virginia Uster, Vine street. Response to roll call was made with quotations on "Spring." Mrs. Perry L. Rigby spoke on "The Book of Ecclesiastes," after which Miss Geneva Flick's topic was "Hagat and Zechariah." Miss Jessie Henry read a poem on spring. The quotation for the day was, "Spring unlocks the flowers to paint the laughing soil."

Miss Lucy Burns of Orchard Grove avenue will receive the club on March 21.

Purity club members were entertained Monday night in the home of Mrs. Lee Fawcett, Elm street, with Mesdames Kathryn Blankenship, R. W. Johnston, Harriet Caraher and Margaret Gibbons associate hostesses. Bingo and a guessing contest were the pastimes. Bingo prizes were awarded Mesdames Ruth Sicily and Jennie Smith, and the guessing contest was won by Mrs. Edward Bowersock.

Covers were arranged for 21 at the luncheon served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Edna Fawcett.

On April 4 Mrs. Edward Bowersock of 411 Washington street will be the hostess.

Ladies' League of the First Church of Christ will hold its monthly all-day meeting Thursday in the basement of the church. A hot roast meat dinner will be served the public at noon. The afternoon will be spent with quilting and social hours.

Philathea class of the First Baptist church has indefinitely postponed the meeting, which was to have been held Friday night in the home of Mrs. C. W. Parson, Lincoln Highway.

Mrs. James McBane of Bradshaw avenue will entertain members of the Philathea class of the First United Presbyterian church at her home Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Mentor Shenkle is teacher of the class. Mrs. W. E. O'Brien will be in charge of the business session.

Ceramic Rebekah lodge No. 286 will entertain with a card party Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Odd Fellows' temple, West Sixth street, with Mrs. Henry Devon in charge of the social committee.

TWENTY-EIGHT members of the Leona Holyrold Missionary circle of the First Church of Christ enjoyed a 6:30 o'clock dinner Tuesday night in the basement of the church, with Miss Dorothy Heddeleston's division in charge of the serving. Miss Heddeleston was aided by Misses Mildred Rose, Alma Jones, Hazel Woods, Kathryn Fluno, Margaret Hendershot, Gladys Mason, and Mrs. Lawrence Applegate. Special guests included Misses Helen and Elaine North, Gwendolyn Barrett, and Leora Buchanan.

Following the dinner Miss Mildred Rose sang, "My Past." The guests then attended revival service in the church auditorium.

Miss Georgianna Thomas' division will be in charge of the April 12 meeting, the place to be announced later.

Pughtown, W. Va., baseball team will present a three act playlet entitled, "Always in Trouble," in the Calcutta Grange Hall, Thursday night at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of members of the grange.

Class No. 13 of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Valley Neiser, Michigan avenue, Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The monthly meeting of the Loyal Daughters' class of the First Church of Christ of Chester, scheduled for next Tuesday night, will be held in the church basement in Indiana avenue next Monday night, owing to the annual Board of Trade banquet Tuesday.

The business session will be followed by a social program and refreshments. The hostesses will be Mrs. Harrison Smith, Mrs. Ada Allison, Mrs. Marjorie Porter and Miss Edna Wilson.

Ladies' Catholic Benevolent association will entertain with a card party Friday night at 8:15 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Thomas Daugherty, West Fifth street, with Mrs. Francis Daugherty and Mrs. Peter Simballa associate hostesses.

The department heads of the City hospital tendered a birthday surprise to Miss Nell Robinson, superintendent, in the Nurses' Home in West Sixth street, Tuesday night, when three tables of bridge were in play.

Trophies were awarded Mrs. Vivian Judge and Miss Viola Bebach. Guests included Misses Mary Edna Boyd, Margaret Long, Ruth Burrell, Martha Green, Kathryn Connel, Viola Zebach, Bertha Bender and Alice Majem and Mesdames Vivian Judge and Gladys Stark.

Refreshments were served, a color scheme of green and white used in the appointments. The honor guest was presented with an appropriate gift.

FOURTEEN tables of bridge and 500 were in play Tuesday afternoon, when ladies of the Elks entertained in the Elks' temple, West Fifth street. Trophies were awarded Mesdames William Curran and Harry Green for 500, and Mesdames W. H. Cordwin, Charles Horton and M. J. Lynch for bridge.

Flowers decorated the tables, where a dinner was served at 5:30 o'clock by Mrs. Tom Russell and her committee. Covers were arranged for 75.

The next afternoon card party and dinner will be held Tuesday, March 22, with Mrs. James McFadden in charge of a St. Patrick's day party. An Easter dance is being planned for March 29.

MYRNA LOY TERMEI STRANGEST PARADOX IN HOLLYWOOD

Her Screen Personality
Definitely Shaded
By Menace.

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Myrna Loy is, to this unprejudiced observer, one of the strangest paradoxes in this town that is full of little else. Every time I see her in a picture, and that has been rather often lately, I go away wondering, I don't recall ever having seen her in a characterization that was wholly sympathetic. Her screen personality is definitely shaded by menace.

She slinks, frets, intrudes, is feline, always intensely selfish. And so often have I seen this characterization that it is difficult to dissociate it from the real Myrna Loy. Of course I know that Myrna Loy, in person, is a slim, freckle-faced young lady who looks as though she might be going out for a tennis game or an afternoon's shopping or other wholesome recreation during which she would not be likely to attract the second glance that most movie people deem is their right.

MYSTERIOUS MYRNA
But it is the Myrna who appears on the set, her freckles hidden by makeup, her lithe figure seductively gowned, a smile flashing now and then in a face that is an exotic mask, that is intriguing. She has glamour, mystery, aloofness—or might have. But the camera, as though it knew that Myrna Loy was a menace and didn't care to examine further, reproduces faithfully the image it has always recorded when that particular actress stood before it. And I can't help wondering—what if some day it chose to look closer, forgetting about Myrna the menace for the while? Now to go from the ridiculous (as Miss Loy herself would probably term the above) to the sublime, let us record the motion picture acting debut (and swan-song) of Homer Croy.

CROY QUITS ACTING ROLES

"A friend of mine making a little picture asked me to play a butler for him, and I did—gold buttons and all," relates the novelist. "From ten until ten at night we hovered over a table groaning with banquet fare and had no time for lunch. It was a lot of fun, though I've sworn off moon-pitcher-acting for good."

Croy's new novel about Hollywood has been sold to a local radio station for dramatized broad-casting.

Ann Dvorak, who says that when she is through acting she wants to be a musical composer, has a song of her own composition, sung and played by herself, on the screen already. It's the tune about the gold-digger you'll hear in "Tinsel Girl."

STAGE SHOW WILL TOP PROGRAM AT CERAMIC THURSDAY

Girls' Orchestra Will Be Feature of Offering.

"Blue Heaven," a colorful and fast stage presentation, will be offered at the Ceramic theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in addition to the all-talking picture, "The Age for Love," with Billie Dove and an all-star supporting cast.

"Blue Heaven" is said to be the last word in class entertainment, offering youth, beauty and ability. Heading the attraction is a 10-piece girls' orchestra known as the Rhythm Queens.

The Francis Sisters, a clever dance team, featured at the Everglades club in New Orleans for a season, will do many intricate dance steps. Amie Alair, novelty European juggler, is an addition to the bill.

Eddie Passick, well-known radio entertainer, will be master of ceremonies. The Calvin Rose Marie trio, two feminine performers, and Mr. Calvin, humorist, and the Metro Harmony four, dispensers of songs, will be other features.

CERAMIC

Fredric March, famous stage and screen star, plays the difficult dual role of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in Paramount's new screen dramatization of Robert Louis Stevenson's weird story of a man's dual nature, which closes today at the Ceramic theater.

March joins a long line of famous actors who have portrayed the Robert Louis Stevenson character. Richard Mansfield first enacted the part on the stage in Boston in May 1887. The play continued to be a popular melo-drama, Henry B. Irving presenting a new version in 1910.

John Barrymore made the only previous film characterization of the dual personality for Paramount in 1920, the production establishing Barrymore as a film favorite.

March first attracted the attention of film producers when he played the Tony role in "The Royal Family" on the stage in Los Angeles. This character has been called an impersonation of Barrymore. When "The Royal Family of Broadway" was presented on the screen, March was cast in the same part and immediately was hailed as one of the leading romantic actors of the screen. His success in this drama was the climax of ten years of meritorious work on the stage where he won a reputation as a versatile and talented actor always adequate in the most exacting roles.

March's recent pictures, "Laughter" and "The Night Angel," both with Nancy Carroll, "Honor Among Lovers" with Claudette Colbert, and "My Sin" with Tallulah Bankhead, all clinched his high position in films.

Miriam Hopkins, the "It" hit of "24 Hours," who also played the part of the Princess in "The Smiling Lieutenant," supports March in the leading feminine role.

STATE

Joe E. Brown's latest starring vehicle for First National and Vitaphone pictures, "Fireman, Save My Child," variously described by New York critics as a "laugh riot," "frolic of fun," etc., opens today at the State theater.

Brown appears as assistant fire chief and local baseball hero in "Fireman, Save My Child." In order to secure enough money to finance a fire extinguisher which he has invented, Brown, as "Smoky Joe" Grant, accepts an offer to pitch in the major league for the St. Louis Cardinals. His adventures in the city do not, however, prevent him from forgetting all about the baseball game at a crucial moment when he hears the sirens of the fire trucks.

As the baseball player and lover whose prime affection is for fires and fire equipment, Brown is furnished his greatest comedy opportunity. That he is at home on the baseball diamond is evident in the game sequences. Brown once played professional baseball, first in the St. Paul League and later with the New York Yankees.

Evalyn Knapp, as the home town girl "Smoky Joe" loves and Lillian Bond, as the blonde adventuress he becomes embroiled with in the big city, furnish attractive feminine background for Brown's humorous antics. The large cast also includes a score of major and minor league baseball players, among them Jim Crandall, Ernie Arsatti and Mike Donlin, one time slugging king for the New York Giants. Non-athletic members of the cast include Guy Kibbee, Richard Carle, Walter Walker, Dickie Moore, George Meeker and many others.

MIDLAND WOMEN HEADS DRIVE

Mrs. Fensler Is Named Co-Chairman in County Drive to Aid the Blind.

Mrs. P. A. Fensler of Ohio avenue, Midland, has been appointed as one of the co-chairmen of the general committee in charge of the first educational week for the blind of Beaver county, which will be held from April 3 to 9, inclusive. The appointment was made by Mrs. E. S. H. McCauley of Beaver, general county chairman, who has named a representative from each community in the county to aid with the work.

The week's observance will be held under the direction of Mrs. Ida Hirst-Gifford, field representative of the American Foundation for the Blind. The Lion's club of Beaver Falls, whose principal service work is aiding the blind, is sponsoring the county program. More than 1,000 women from all parts of the county, representing the Protestant and Catholic church groups, women's clubs and civic organizations, will assist Mrs. McCauley. The co-chairmen will organize committees in their respective towns.

OHIO FILMS TO BE EXHIBITED

Scenic Motion Pictures of Buckeye State to be Shown in Wells-ville Friday.

A film titled, "Ohio Beautiful," will be exhibited Friday at 3 p. m. in the high school auditorium, Wells-ville, by B. A. Aughinbaugh of the state department of education.

The members of the Twentieth Century club who are studying Ohio this season will attend. Other clubs are also invited.

A small admission fee will be charged with the receipts to be expended on similar films of the state.

A beautifully sculptured platform, representing a dramatic scene in Mayan history, has been found in the ruins of Chichen Itza, Yucatan.

Scotch Terrier, Guard of Lindy Baby, "Off Duty" in Kidnaping

Watch Dog Spent
Tuesday Night In Kitchen With Servants And Did Not Bark.

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9.—The little Scotch terrier which was playmate and guard to the Lindbergh baby, spent last Tuesday evening in the kitchen and pantry with the servants and so did not hear and raise a warning against the kidnapers who stole into the nursery and abducted the child.

In the second list of questions submitted to the Lindbergh home Tuesday reporters sought to find out how good a watch dog the terrier was and why he was apparently "off duty" in the moment of need.

The question about the dog read: "Please say exactly where the Lindbergh dog was at the time of the kidnaping? Who had the dog under observation at that time? How many intervening doors were between the dog and the nursery? Were they open or closed? Is the dog in the habit of barking at the approach of strangers on the estate?"

To this police at the Lindbergh home answered: "Ground floor—kitchen and pantry—servants—four doors—yes, if he heard them."

The new ice age is foreseen in the next 10,000 years.

BOND ISSUE APPEALED.
By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.—A brief has been filed in the United States supreme court by the Allen county commissioners appealing from an Ohio supreme court decision requiring the county as a whole to pay assessments for bonds issued for a sewer project. They contend the project benefited only a small area.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Thousands who take Olive Tablets are never cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition, pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound, known by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c—Adv.
